Now Taking Orders for 2016 Tree Planting Projects

Southern Ontario's forests are key to both human and ecosystem health. Forests help clean the air we breathe and protect the waters we drink. They are the home to a wide diversity of plants and animals, and they can provide us with valuable forest products.

CANOEING/PADDLING

HOME / ACTIVITIES / CANOEING-PADDLING

With more than 38,000 acres of land under our ownership, Toronto and Region Conservation (TRCA) provides access to many exciting places to bird watch close to home!

BOATING & CANOEING WATER SAFETY

- Life jackets or personal floatation devices must be worn by all persons while on the water. Make sure it fits well and it is fastened properly. Stay seated and never fool around in a boat or canoe.
- If a thunderstorm or lightning is approaching - don't panic - leave the water immediately.
- TRCA does not permit the use of motorized (gas or electric) watercraft of any sort.
- Inflatable rafts or devices are prohibited unless marked with D.O.T. approval.
- All boaters must stay within the designated area.

Near the city, Tommy Thompson Park, Colonel Samuel Smith Park and Humber Bay Park provide excellent viewing of colonial waterbirds, waterfowl and shorebirds. Hundreds of species of birds take advantage of the varied habitats of wetland, forest and meadow protected in our conservation areas outside the city limits.

The Kortright Centre for Conservation in particular is home to several peregrine falcons and other birds of prey, including hawks and owls. The Raptor Centre helps to facilitate the delivery of the Canadian Peregrine Foundation's (CPF) successful outreach program. The peregrines and other birds make appearances throughout the year at special events held at the Kortright Centre for Conservation. They can also be viewed in outdoor pens at the CPF Raptor Centre. For more information about CPF and links to nest web cams, visit www.peregrine-foundation.ca.
